WHO WE ARE

The Rotary Tom Jackson Stay in School Program (RTJSIS) provides mentors and financial support for vulnerable Indigenous youth to keep them motivated in life and to continue their education to graduate high school and beyond.

OUR HISTORY

The initiative began in 2010 with discussions between Rotarians, United Way, other non-profit service providers and Indigenous leaders. Tom Jackson has been involved in these meetings from the beginning and lent his influential name to the initiative.

The RTJSIS Program was launched at the Rotary District 5360 Conference in 2011 with a speaker series including Awareness of the Issue (Marie Delorme -past United Way 2010 Campaign Co-Chair), The Business Case for Investing in Education (Blaine Favel – President and CEO One Earth Resources Inc), History and Awareness (Tom Jackson) and How the Story affects each one of Us (Rob Cardinal – the life of....and where he is today). Their presentations were educational and very powerful.

THE NEED

The Alberta School Board Association published a report in 2011 addressing the achievement gap of Indigenous students in Alberta. The report highlights the dropout rate for Indigenous students (11.2%) is more than twice as high as the rate for students overall (4.3%). The report emphasizes the vital need for this achievement gap to be addressed.

OUR MISSION

To positively impact urban Indigenous children's high school graduation rates through mentoring, tutoring and general support; We aim to provide opportunities for indigenous youth that are equivalent to the rest of our community to encourage equivalent outcomes.

OUR PROCESS

Partner schools identify Indigenous students who would benefit from the RTJSIS Program

A meeting is held with the RTJSIS Chair, mentors, teachers and family. A 'Needs Assessment' is completed and the student is matched with a co-mentor team

The RTJSIS Program and co-mentors work with students to keep them motivated in life and in school

OUR COMMITMENT

We never give up! Even if students walk away for awhile, our door always remains open ready to connect again.

Our co-mentor teams are carefully matched, training is provided and direct support is available 7 days a week.

Many community resources are available and the co-mentor teams are empowered with the knowledge of how to access them for our students.

OUR IMPACT

The RTJSIS Program highly values the mentor/student relationship and the mutual benefit that comes from it. Mentoring positively impacts youth through personal growth and development as well as social and economic opportunity. Mentors also grow through the relationship, as they learn more about themselves, gain a deeper understanding of other cultures, and feel that they are making a difference.

"Mentorship provides a unique opportunity for growth of all those involved. The RTJSIS program harnesses this, and magnifies it. The relationship my mentee and I have will only become stronger, and coupled with the resources available, will bring her to greater heights."

"Every year I am more interested, committed and thankful for the support from the Tom Jackson Stay in School Program. Next year I hope to improve my studies, learn better study skills, make lots of new friends and have a lot of fun. Thank you for everything you do."
